Bardia National Park Safari Overview

Look for wild Bengal tigers, one-horned rhinos and wild elephants in the grasslands of Nepal's largest lowland national park.

Tour overview

Bardia is Nepal's largest and least visited lowland national park, in the far west of the country on the Karnali river. It is roughly the same size as Chitwan but receives a small fraction of the visitors. This is the main reason to travel this far: the same species, much more space, and long periods when yours is the only vehicle.

Bardia and Chitwan compared

Chitwan is five hours from Kathmandu by road and has more rhinos. Reaching Bardia requires a flight and a drive, but it has the highest tiger density in Nepal, fewer visitors and a wilder setting. If you have time for one lowland park and want an easy journey, choose Chitwan. If you are coming specifically to see a tiger, or you have been to Chitwan and found it busy, choose Bardia.

Tiger sightings

Bardia offers the best chance of seeing a wild tiger in Nepal, but a sighting cannot be guaranteed. Across a season, tigers are seen on roughly one trip in three. Sightings are most frequent in the hot, dry months from March to May, when the grass is short and the animals come to water. You can reliably expect to see rhino, deer, langur, wild boar, crocodile and, on the Karnali, the Gangetic river dolphin.

Key highlights of the Bardia National Park Safari

- Jeep & walking safaris
- Chance to sight the Royal Bengal tiger
- Tharu community & cultural evening
- Karnali river dolphin excursion

Packing list

Clothing colours and luggage

Wear greens, browns and khaki in the park. On a walk in Bardia the aim is to avoid being noticed by wildlife, and bright colours and white are visible from a long way off. The Nepalgunj flight has a lower baggage allowance than your international ticket, and bags are weighed, so bring a soft bag rather than a large suitcase. Anything you do not need in the park can be stored free of charge at our Kathmandu office.

On your head

- Sun hat with a brim
- Sunglasses
- Sunscreen SPF 50 and lip balm
- A warm hat for foggy winter mornings, December to February

On your body

- Light long-sleeved shirts and long trousers in green, brown or khaki
- A fleece or light jacket for early mornings from November to February
- A light rain jacket from May onwards

On your feet

- Closed walking shoes or light boots, quiet rather than stiff
- Socks that come above the ankle, against ticks and leeches
- Sandals for the lodge

Bags

- A soft bag rather than a hard suitcase, for the small aircraft
- A daypack for water, camera and a layer

Health

- Insect repellent with DEET
- Any medicine you take routinely, and a small first aid kit
- Rehydration salts for the hot months
- Ask your doctor about malaria tablets. The risk in the Terai is low but not zero

Camera and binoculars

- Binoculars, which matter more than a camera for birds and for a tiger across a river
- A long lens if you have one
- Spare batteries and memory cards

Water

- A refillable bottle, one litre or more
- Purification tablets as a backup

Papers and money

- Passport and a photocopy, which you need for the domestic flight
- Travel insurance certificate
- Cash in small notes for tips and drinks. Bring it from Kathmandu or Nepalgunj; there is a cash machine in Thakurdwara, but it is not always working

Accommodation

Where	Nights	Type	Room	Bathroom
Bardia, on the edge of the park	2	Wildlife resort	Double or twin, cottage style	Private, hot water
Kathmandu	1	Hotel	Double or twin	Private, hot water

Cooling
A fan in every room. Some rooms have air conditioning; ask when you book if the heat matters to you.

Hot shower
In your room, solar or electric. Best in the afternoon on a cloudy day.

Charging
Sockets in the room. Nepal uses round two- and three-pin plugs, so bring an adapter.

Wi-Fi
In the main building, and slow. Enough for messages.

Phone signal
Ncell and NTC work at the lodge, but the signal is patchy. There is no reliable signal inside the park.

Mosquitoes
Nets over every bed. Repellent is still worth wearing at dusk.

Water
Filtered drinking water at the lodge for refilling your bottle.

Laundry
Available for a small charge, back the same day in dry weather.

Meals

Meal	Time	What it is like
Tea	6:00 to 6:30	Tea or coffee and biscuits before the first activity
Breakfast	7:00 to 8:00	Eggs, toast, porridge, fruit, Nepali and Indian dishes, tea or coffee. A packed breakfast on long mornings in the park
Lunch	12:30 to 13:30	Dal bhat, curries, vegetables, salad and fruit, at the lodge or packed for a full day out
Dinner	19:00 to 20:30	Nepali, Tharu and continental dishes, with a Nepali buffet on the cultural evening

Diet	How we manage it
Vegetarian	Easy. Most of the food the kitchen prepares is already vegetarian.
Vegan	Manageable with notice. Tell us when you book, because the lodge buys its food in Nepalgunj and plans ahead.
Gluten free	Rice, dal, curries and fruit are safe. Tell us in advance, as the kitchen cannot rule out cross-contamination.
Halal	Not certified. Vegetarian food is the practical option.
Allergies	Tell us at booking and remind the kitchen on arrival. The nearest large hospital is Nepalgunj Medical College at Kohalpur, on the road to Nepalgunj.

A typical day

Time	What happens
6:00	Tea or coffee and biscuits
6:30	Out with your naturalist, on foot or by jeep, while it is cool and the animals are moving
8:30	Breakfast, at the lodge or packed in the park

10:00	The Karnali river or a Tharu village, depending on the day
12:30	Lunch, then rest through the hottest part of the day
15:00	Afternoon safari, until the light goes
18:00	Back at the lodge
19:00	Dinner, with the Tharu cultural evening on one night
21:00	Bedtime. The next morning starts at 6:00

Difficulty and preparation

Difficulty 1 of 5

Physically easy. The main challenge is the heat during the tiger season.

- Walks in the park are on flat ground, two to four hours, at the naturalist's pace and with long quiet stops.
- The jeep is several hours on rough, dusty tracks, sitting in an open vehicle.
- From March to May the afternoons are close to 40°C, and the activities are timed around it.
- Early starts every day. The first activity leaves around 6:30.
- Getting there is a flight to Nepalgunj and two and a half hours by road, each way.

Getting ready

4 weeks before: Walking practice

No training is needed. If you do not walk much, a few walks of two to three hours on flat ground will make the walks in the park easier. Wear the shoes you will bring.

Before you travel: Preparing for the heat

If you are coming in April or May for the tiger season, the afternoons are close to 40°C. Drink more than you think you need, stay in the shade in the middle of the day, and do not plan anything strenuous for the evening you arrive.

Weather by month

Typical conditions on this route in each month, including the months we do not run this trip.

Month	Day, in the park	Night, at the lodge	Early morning, when you set out	Conditions	Note
January	20°C	7°C	9°C	Good	Cool, with thick fog most mornings. Quiet, and comfortable once the fog lifts.
February	25°C	9°C	11°C	Good	Warming up. The grass starts to be cut and the park opens out.
March	31°C	13°C	15°C	Best	Hot afternoons, short grass, and the tiger season begins.

April	37°C	19°C	21°C	Best	Very hot, and the best chance of tiger, as animals come to water.
May	38°C	24°C	25°C	Good	The hottest month, often near 40°C. Still a good month for tiger sightings if you can tolerate the heat.
June	36°C	26°C	26°C	Hard	The monsoon arrives. The park usually closes to visitors from around mid-June.
July	33°C	26°C	26°C	We do not run it	Monsoon. The park is closed to visitors and the Karnali is in flood.
August	33°C	26°C	26°C	We do not run it	As in July, the park is closed to visitors.
September	33°C	24°C	25°C	Hard	The park reopens around mid-month. Humid, green, and the grass is very tall.
October	32°C	19°C	21°C	Good	Green and comfortable. Tall grass makes animals harder to see than in spring.
November	28°C	12°C	14°C	Best	Warm days, cool nights, and the most comfortable month to be here.
December	24°C	8°C	10°C	Good	Cool and often foggy in the mornings. Bring a warm layer for the jeep.

Approximate averages from Department of Hydrology and Meteorology records for Nepalgunj and the Bardia area. Winter mornings are often foggy and feel colder than the figure, and in April and May the afternoon can go several degrees above it.

Booking and payment

How to book

Write to us or send a message on WhatsApp and tell us roughly when you would like to travel. You will receive a reply from a member of our team who has been on this trip. Nothing is payable at this stage, and there is no obligation until you pay a deposit.

Deposit

A deposit of 30 per cent secures your dates, and the balance is paid when you arrive in Kathmandu, in cash or by card. At the same time, we ask for a copy of your passport, your insurance certificate and any dietary or medical information.

Payment

You can pay by bank transfer, or by card through a secure link. Card payments carry the bank's fee of about 4 per cent, which we show you before you pay. The balance in Kathmandu can be paid in US dollars, pounds, euros or Nepali rupees.

Cancellation

If you cancel more than 30 days before departure, your deposit can be transferred to any other date or trip we run, with no time limit. If you cancel within 30 days, the deposit is retained, because the permits, flights and crew have been booked by then. If we cancel for any reason other than weather, we refund everything you have paid.

Private and group departures

For a party of five or more, private and group departures cost the same. A private departure runs on your dates at your pace and can be arranged for one person. A group departure runs on the dates in the table above. Most travellers book privately, at no extra cost.

Late bookings

We need at least one week's notice, or two weeks in March and April. The limiting factor is the Nepalgunj flight rather than the resort: it is a small aircraft on a route with few seats, and it fills up during the tiger season.

Frequently asked questions

Answers to the 6 questions travellers ask us most often. If your question is not here, contact us and we will answer it.

How hard is this trip?

We grade it Easy. Rest days are built in to help you adjust, and a good level of everyday fitness is enough. Tell us about your experience when you enquire, and we will advise you on whether the trip is suitable.

When is the best time to go?

The best time to go is from autumn to spring (October to April), when the weather is most settled and the views are clearest. We also run the trip outside these months on request. Ask us and we will explain what to expect.

How big are the groups?

Groups are small. Many of our trips run for just one or two people, and we keep group sizes low so that the pace suits you and your guide has time for everyone. You can also book the whole trip privately.

What do I need to pay to book?

A 30% deposit, about $140 on this trip, secures your place, and the balance is due before you travel. You can change your dates free of charge up to 60 days before departure.

Do I need permits, and are they included?

Yes, permits are required, and they are included. We arrange all the national park fees and trekking permits for this route, and they are included in the price. You only need a valid passport and a Nepal entry visa, which you can get on arrival.

Can you tailor the itinerary?

Every itinerary can be adjusted to suit your dates, your pace and the time you have. If you would like extra rest days, a different starting point, or to add another region, let us know and we will plan the trip around your needs.
